We are now one big family

Communities and families across Barnet continue to be strengthened through parents from different cultures participating in the Strengthening Families Strengthening Communities (SFSC) programme. SFSC is a 13 week parenting programme that integrates various prevention and intervention strategies to foster a violent-free healthy lifestyle.

More recently, parents from three different continents, communities and speaking at least 3 other languages completed the SFSC programme at Childs Hill children's centre. These parents mainly of Albanian, Somali and Sri Lankan origin, were a vibrant, energetic and friendly bunch. The buzz word among them was 'family'; "we are now one big family" is what one parent said.

Parent Graduates

Parents who graduate from the programme are encouraged to join the Barnet Parents' Voice a network of parents who have attended various parenting programmes keen to support each other, their families and the wider community.

New Courses

We are currently running a programme at Whitefield School for parents with teenage children or those starting secondary in September 2012.

The SFSC programme is open to all those involve in bringing up children between the ages of 0-18 years. Programmes can be run in Arabic, Farsi, Pashto, Somali and Turkish. Other languages spoken by facilitators include Yoruba, Ibo and Ga. Groups targeted for future programmes will include young parents, Dads only, traveller parents and those who can only attend in the evening.

The Rainbow Centre celebrates reopening

Hundreds of people celebrated the revamp of the Rainbow Centre in April.

Following a volunteer-led makeover, The Rainbow Centre in Dollis Valley Drive has reopened with new facilities. Two hundred people turned out to see the centre's new cafe, The ARC, as well as try out a skate park and taster sessions, including cookery demonstrations and football skills with Barnet Football Club.

Steve Neale, Centre Manager, said: "We wanted to turn it into a real community hub where people could come and relax and different groups could use it. I think we've done that. There was a real buzz on Saturday. It was a special day."

The centre is also the base for a youth club, educational classes, Barnet Community Projects, Barnet Council for Voluntary Youth Services and the Somali Family Support Group.

New users to the Rainbow Centre offering Parent Support to families with disabled young people are pp4dan and also Fairplay Barnet.

Creating healthy teenage relationships: become a young trainer

Attendance: 13 young people aged between 15-23

Youth Shield carried out a survey for young people in Barnet (Barnet Young People's Safeguarding Consultation 2011). 60% said they do not receive enough relationships education in schools. 15.8% said they had been grabbed, pushed or shoved by a boy or girl they were going out with and 69.5% thought that domestic violence exists in teenage relationships. 16-24 year olds are most likely to experience abuse from someone they know and every week 2 women are being killed by a partner or ex partner here in the UK.

We worked with Tender, an organisation which uses drama and education to actively prevent domestic abuse and sexual violence. Together, we developed the training for Youth Shield and 2 trainers from Tender came along to deliver it. The first part of the training course taught the participants about relationship abuse and healthy relationships amongst young people using drama and media.

In the afternoon, the group developed its own training session using techniques learnt in the morning but also including their own ideas.

The session is now being practised and will be ready to deliver to young people aged 14 or over in schools and youth settings from mid June.

If you are interested in our peer educators coming to deliver a session on how to identify healthy and unhealthy relationships, early warning signs and what to do about it, please contact us.

Barnet LINKs

The participation team will be gathering together the views of young people who have an interest or experience of using health services. It will help inform the Health and Wellbeing strategy which in turn will structure the way our health services work in the future. If you work with or know young people who would be interested in getting involved in a health reference group, do let us know. We want young people to have a say in how services they use are developed in the future.

Barnet Participation Workers Forum

A new Participation Workers Forum had its first meeting on 14th May at the Rainbow Centre. It was a good meeting and interesting to bring people from both the voluntary sector and the Council together. We aim to share information, training requirements, tackle common issues and create a resources hub. Most importantly it will be a forum for us to support and communicate with each other.

If you work with groups of young people and help them to make their voices heard, you are a participation worker! Come along to the next meeting. Contact Jo Domingo or Allison Cooper for more details.

Why did the chicken cross the road? It didn't, it was too scared!

Road safety is no joking matter and the BOBBY panel know this. That is why it is one of their top priorities is to deal with this issue in Barnet. Road Safety Week is coming up at the end of November (19th-25th) and the BOBBY panel want to raise awareness of road safety in Barnet for all its young people whether they're being driven in a car, or are on a bike or on foot.

The BOBBY panel is coming to a school near you! (If it isn't, it should be!)

We have 40 BOBBY members now but we want more! We will come to your school, put on an assembly, meet with your school councils and get more young people involved in what affects them in Barnet. We want young people to have a voice!

Schools that have recently taken up this challenge and want to be involved are:

St Catherine's	Tudor
Queenswell	Holy Trinity

We look forward to working with them and welcoming their elected BOBBY members to the Panel.

Grand Loo Design at the Rainbow

Over 25 young people helped create and design a new mosaic for the girls toilets at the Rainbow Centre during the Easter holidays. With thanks to Marsida Cela our volunteer designer, Audrey Montet from Montet Designs, Kelly from our Traveller project, Shema from Somali Family Support group and Samadi from the Albanian School. The day was a huge success! Fundraising tips and advice on how to raise the money for the redesign of the Rainbow Toilets was provided by Misha from Volunteer Centre Barnet. Contact dadia@barnetchildren.org to get involved with more projects like this one.

As the members grow so must the BOBBY panel, so at the last meeting the group decided they wanted to promote and develop the BP to make it more recognisable and easy to access.

So this is what they want to do.....

Develop the BOBBY Panel Website so any young person can see what we're up to and find out more. To have members login so you can access BP Information, a forum or chat room to discuss issues in Barnet and an Anti-Bullying section to promote the anti-bullying work they have done.

Have a regular presence at young people's events over the summer such as Playday or school fetes so they can promote BOBBY and talk to young people about what they want to see in their Barnet. Develop links with other groups around London and all over the UK to share ideas and be involved in participation on a national scale.

All schools and young people's groups to know about the BOBBY panel and be represented.

Let's give young people a voice and make the BOBBY panel and Barnet a success!

If you are aged 8yrs – 13yrs or know or work with young people who would like to be involved with the BOBBY panel you can contact

Mr Walkley's walkabout

Youngers to take the lead in Graham Park

Following the riots last year I spoke to Nick Walkley (Barnet Council's Chief executive) about how to make sure Barnet stays safe. As an idea we agreed to 'show him around' the borough with a young person's eye view. On 16th April I along with Darwin and Rui from Nutmeg and Temi Wale from Barnet Youth Board met Nick and Steven Evans on Grahame Park. After a tour of the area we sat down to express views, discuss ideas and to take a look towards a positive future for young people.

We have been thinking about what we could do next as it is clear that the problems will not go away without some hard work and support from the community and the authorities working together. Nick Walkley and we all saw the empty shops and the seedy life on the concourse. We want to bring some vibrancy, safety and hope to the place.

Both Community Souls and Nutmeg already do 'street work' talking to younger's and trying to get their problems sorted. But this can be a little random and having a base would mean that they can find us when they need us. We need to keep our credibility so the question is already out there- what's changed?

So our plans are to use one of the empty shops to open a youth led Workshop bringing in young people - With positive practitioners like myself, Darwin and other young people organisations, directing our skills and projects to the youngsters hanging about and making trouble. We will provide positive activities that will empower young people to become self-reliant and give them practical help and information and persuade them to help others and give something back to their new space. We know all young people have skills and talents they can offer to older and younger people in their communities. i.e. helping older people to get online and fill in forms and deal with new technology. Helping younger children with their reading and school work.

We already have some good contacts and partners here in Barnet and elsewhere that can help us get started. We feel sure we can make it work financially we will be making some funding bids to get some start up money, and will be selling burgers, Art etc maybe hair cuts & hair dressing, nails, using some students from Barnet college. We really believe this can work and want to use this as a pilot and to eventually see a workshop in every community.

If anyone in the borough would like to help with this initiative- have ideas to add please contact:

Mark is an Olympic Torchbearer!

Following our previous article about Darwin Bernardo from Nutmeg community about being an Olympic Torchbearer, congratulations to our Centre Manager at the Green Man....

I am very proud to have been selected to be one of 8,000 Olympic Torchbearers who will carry the Olympic Torch in the lead up to the Olympic Games this summer.

As an openly gay man, as I carry the Olympic Torch I will do so acknowledging that I am lucky to live in a country where I am free to be who I want to be, knowing that I was nominated because of the work that I and others have done and are still doing to tackle prejudice and hate within our communities. I hope that my involvement will inspire other people to do more for the global community to which we all belong.

Barnet Schools win more than GOLD!

Victoria & Albert Museum SW7 9-1 followed by networking lunch

A conference arranged by John Lyons Charity will highlight the partnerships between Supplementary and Mainstream schools in some London boroughs.

It will be an excellent opportunity to learn about the supplementary school sector, how these weekend community schools can help to raise attainment and develop relationships across communities.

With less funding and the loss of so much additional support (EMA teams and more) this is more important than ever if we are going to keep closing the attainment gap. 3 schools based in Barnet received Special Distinction awards for their partnership with mainstream schools Rustam/Christ's College, Paiwand / Whitefield and OYA.

It is unfortunate that the day coincides with publication of school results and so Mr Gove's team is busy! but other DfE and GLA members will attend as well as Lord Adonis and Simon Hughes.

Representatives from primary and secondary schools from each of the 9 boroughs of benefit; Harrow, Brent, Ealing, H&F, Camden K&C, City and Westminster will attend making it a most useful networking event all set in in the V&A with a free lunch!!!
